Minister that he had discussed with de Gaulle growing difficulties in UN on account of the new memberships, but that he had no recollection whatsoever of Chicom issue arising.

Prime Minister ~~is~~ assured Secretary that in any case UK would not change its policy of voting against seating Chicoms in UN except as might be agreed with US Government. Prime Minister did add, however, that some this day our two governments would be faced with ~~the~~ problem.

Re Karachi's 2285 from Parsons, inasmuch as Secretary has already raised this question with Macmillan with satisfactory result, there is no need for Parsons to allude to subject in any way in London.
